

Frank Neumann

International Representations and Cooperations

Frank Neumann, an external project consultant of DMAN, is in charge of the DMAN cooperation management. His responsibility is to support DMAN participants who want to establish commercial contacts, to manage the DMAN graduates and to give advice to German companies who plan a market entry in Eastern European.

Competencies

Project management, economic cooperation, export processing, financing.

Career Background

Frank Neumann is an experienced engineer and project manager. As a manager, he was responsible for project processing from tender opening and contract generation to successful project completion for the export of machines and plants into the Russian-speaking economic region.

Frank Neumann studied machine engineering in Minsk, where he acquired his Master of Science and his diploma. Today, he works as an independent engineer and consultant. He is able to conduct negotiations in Russian.

Languages

German, Russian, English.