Career Background

Julia Thoma completed her master's study of Sinology I (language and literature), Sinology II (state and society) and political science at the University of Hamburg. Already during her studies, she collected Chinese experiences through a foreign semester at the Beijing Foreign Studies University and through a one-month research stay for her master's thesis in Shanghai.

After professional qualifications in project management and in business administration, she worked more than 10 years as a project leader at a well-known association, which promotes the development and maintenance of economic, cultural and scientific contacts between Germany and China. Here she planned, applied and led different German-Chinese cooperation projects in the educational area.
